

BOWERS OF JUPITER FOR SCHOOL BOARD

E. F. Bowers of Jupiter announced himself Tuesday as a candidate for election to the school board of the first district comprising Jupiter, Kelsey City, Riviera, Canal Point and Pahokee.

Mr. Bowers is chairman of the town commission of Jupiter and a trustee of the Jupiter Inlet commission. He came from South Carolina twenty-eight years ago and settled in Jupiter, where he has lived continuously and conducted a general mercantile business of which he is still the head.

Mr. Bowers was a member of the first board of county commissioners in 1909 when Palm Beach county was carved out of Dade county.

Preacher Reluctant To Leave Muck Soil

The muck soils of the Lake Okechobee region puzzle and fascinate J. R. Hoch, former pastor to the Belle Glade-South Bay Methodist congregations, now stationed at Florida City. He was in Belle Glade Tuesday to get the remains of household goods and to look after a crop he is tending.

"My father was a homesteader in Kansas and there he considered the luxuriance or sparsity of native weeds and grasses a sign of the fertility or poverty of the soil, and I took that as a guide in this region and by that standard this is a wonderful soil," Mr. Hoch gestured to the mass of vegetation at hand. "Like others, in my farming experience I have had more bumps, but I can get over the impression that this is a great country with a glorious future."

LAKE VARIES TENTHS

Affected by the wind, the level of Lake Okechobee varied, this week from 12.1 to 12.5 feet, a difference of nearly half a foot. As the lake was higher on one side it was lower on the other. The spitway at Canal Point is still open.

M. E. GRUBER

AN OLD-TIMER

CANDIDATE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Palm Beach County

Subject to Democratic Primary

WILL APPRECIATE YOUR SUPPORT

June 10.

From June 1 to time until the primaries are over I will have a personal message for the Democratic readers of this paper. It is entirely proper that I carry my campaign direct to the voters of this county. I shall discuss frankly and fairly public questions and public records in a manner entirely free of personalities. The welfare of the people is my only consideration and if the time ever comes when candidates are afraid to conduct such discussions and when the people do not welcome them we may know that the manhood which founded this republic and built this State has departed from us. I stand ready at all times to publicly correct and apologize for any error which may creep in.

Ever since before man first established a civilized government the people have been engaged in a never-ending struggle against those who would curtail their privileges. In the early days the power applied was physical and the people had to sacrifice life and still blood to win the rights they enjoy today. In modern times the weapons employed to control the people are money, power, cunning, and sometimes liquor. Today in Florida the politicians are trying to convince the people that out of a field of ten candidates for Governor the people can only choose between two and that the people must pick and will pick one of the ex-Governors. Such an argument is based only on the desire of the politicians to lead the people to choose between two men when the politician has picked out for them. The politicians may be satisfied with either, or the particular politician may believe that his favorite ex-Governor can defeat the other ex-Governor and is not able to defeat a new man, but whatever the reason the politician has an axe to grind and wants the people to turn the grindstone. We have the first and second primaries and there is nothing to prevent the people from voting for the candidate whom they believe will make the best Governor. My candidacy is submitted upon that basis. When you go to the polls vote for the man whom you believe will make the best Governor and tell the politicians to quit trying to put a halter around your neck.

Every now and then some Hardie supporter hollers because I have discussed Mr. Hardie's record and claims that I have not discussed Mr. Martin's record. The truth is that I have been discussing State affairs frankly and fully lasting my remarks upon a study of the State government, especially from the year nineteen twenty until the present time and including the administration of ex-Governor Martin. I am running against both men and shall continue to discuss their records fairly and frankly. However, if the Hardie supporters who have missed the point of my campaign speeches will get Mr. Hardie's record straight for a joint discussion in every county and will get him to approve, inviting Mr. Martin to go along, we will have in every county between now and the first primary a real discussion of the issues in this campaign in the presence of all of us, instead of the long distance post-horn campaign now going on. I can go to every county in Florida with the gentlemen and have a good time discussing the government of Florida for the benefit of the people. Mr. Hardie can contribute to a thorough discussion of Mr. Martin's record face to face with the gentleman by joining in this campaign. Candidates ought to carry on that kind of campaign that will enlighten the people about their real problems and their solutions.

Respectfully,

STAFFORD CALDWELL.

POGIE BILL COLLINS HAS RIGHT TO RUN

Although William ("Pogie Bill") Collins of Okechobee county was convicted in federal court in a liquor case, the conviction does not disqualify him as a citizen and voter nor prevent him from being a candidate for office. Cary D. Landis, attorney general, holds the opinion was given in reply to a letter from Mr. Collins.

"A supersedeas bond is given for the purpose of suspending the judgment and holding the man in the case status as if there had been no judgment, unless and until the appellate court confirms the lower court's judgment," the state attorney general says. "It is my opinion that until the judgment and sentence is affirmed by the appellate court you are not disqualified as a citizen or as to any of your rights as to becoming a candidate for the office of sheriff or such other office to which you might aspire."

Sherriff Collins resigned when he was convicted and later became a candidate for re-nomination and his resignation was not a bar to his eligibility to enter the primary. The attorney general's letter set aside the question of whether Collins' name is on the ballot.

PAHOKEE ROTARY

A review of the history of Lake Worth drainage district was made Friday by M. R. Keys of West Palm Beach, manager of the district. In a talk he had been invited to make to the Pahokee Rotary Club. He recalled that the district was the first that was organized under the Florida general drainage law, when information was lacking on many points about which experience has since developed valuable data, and that the structures financial and physical were not properly adapted to conditions.

For the district an appearance of good prospects was made by the real estate boom but the widespread business depression now affected the district as other interests also are affected. The policy of the bondholders allowed the drainage works to be maintained and corrections made in the original plans, with the result that land is being restored to use and production increased.

HOMES SHOULD PAY TAXES

A candidate for governor is reported to be advocating the taking of taxes off of homes, and if the report is true it is not creditable to his claims of statesmanship for it shows a wrong conception of the benefits and duties of citizenship.

By homes is understood dwellings and the real estate site.

If a home is to be secure from trespass and entry, from burglary and arson, if the title is to be protected by the courts and the sheriff and the militia, this is a service of government that should be paid for by the beneficiary.

A merit of home ownership and a credit to the home owner is that it gives him a stake in a country and qualifies him for participation in government because he is a contributor to the cost of government.

As a taxpayer the home owner has a real interest in the form of government and the cost of government, but if he is relieved of the cost he is deprived of a sound reason for concern with the affairs of government and he deprives himself of rights he now has. To sell rights of citizenship for exemption from one form of taxation is a very poor trade.

The candidate for governor (or any other office) who advocates tax exemption for dwelling houses, if he is honest, has only to reflect on the consequences of his plan to confess that he is mistaken. If he persists in the advocacy he can properly be charged with talking clap-trap and demagoguery.

Around The Lake

Henry Randall of Citrus Center, who takes care of the government lights on Lake Okechobee, is just barely able to get his boat of shallow draft through channels that the lights guard.

The sheriff of Okechobee county, who sold on Monday a drove of horses belonging to Miller Brothers that the Live Stock Sanitary Board inspectors took up and dipped, says that the owners did not redeem. The Miller Brothers used to own 201 Ranch in Oklawaha where one of them had a wild west show.

IN LIEU OF GOLF

The Editor's Own Column

That things ill got had ever had success. And happy always was it for that son whose father for his boasting went to hell?

So said King Henry VI before York in act II, scene II, to Lord Clifford, as recorded by that good reporter, Bill Shakespeare—and that reference to the fate of hoards ought to be taken note of by Chairman Knox, the Chicago newspaper man who is at the head of President Hoover's anti-boasting campaign.

An early meaning of "success" was succession, that which comes after; hence, consequence, issue, outcome, or result, of an undertaking, whether good or bad; it was not until recently that "success" came to mean the favorable or prosperous outcome of anything attempted. So Lord Clifford said "bad success" as a Cracker bean grower would say his crop was a good success or a bad success.

The paper being printed and in the mail, I lingered Saturday morning over a third cup of coffee in Bob's restaurant and discussed with a friend, a reflective man, this question of What is success? I feel sorry for people who do not know how to enjoy coffee; some day I shall write in praise of coffee-drinking—for the time being the radio announcers are having their poor hand at it, and although I am no more a politician, having abandoned that role to who so will, I shall quote Alexander Pope.

Coffee, which makes the politician wise, and he through all things with half-eye. And I shall maintain that a cup of good coffee is an aid to seeing through those things—or a third cup, anyway. You remember that when Theodore Roosevelt was defending his race for a third term for President he said, "Should a man refuse a third cup of coffee because he has had two?"

There is recalled with pleasure the many mornings at the Moore Haven hotel where Captain F. Deane Duff and Tom Fredericks and I lingered at the breakfast table for the third cup of coffee and talked of many things more important than cabbages and kings, and I trust that Cap and Tom recall their tea. Coffee-drinking, like pipe-smoking, has a religious connection; the physiological action of coffee is disapplying drowsiness and preventing sleep was taken advantage of in connection with the prolonged religious services of the Mohammedans in Arabia, where coffee had long been known, and its use as a devotional aid was stimulated up position on the part of the strictly orthodox section of the priests. American Indians prepared themselves for their religious rites by burning tobacco in its use and using a funnel-like arrangement to draw the smoke into their mouths, and the funnel developed into a pipe, clay pipes first being used because clay was the material of the pit.

Success, in a manner of speaking, is the outcome of undertaking in life—in other words, for it cannot be known until a man is dead whether his life was successful or failure, and when you think of life and death, that is thinking of religion, which concerns itself with both. Are the managers of modern religion wise in rejecting coffee and tobacco, the aids that were the original supports?

And so, with cigarettes and the third cup of coffee, my friend and I discussed this matter of success. Aeschylus, the Greek, who lived and died four and a half centuries before the birth of Christ, says "Success is man's god," and no doubt it is, but you cannot know his conception of success. He says also: "Few men have the natural strength to honor a friend's success without envy."

I well know that mirror of friendship, shadow of a shade. Has that man's life been a success, you, for instance, has paid out a farm, been a member of a church, raised a family? We cannot know. Was that man's life a failure who died divorced from a wife, with a mortgage on his farm, who never went to church, and whose daughter was a harlot and his son a convict? We cannot know. Only God knows. The humble, obscure farmer may in his surroundings be like Alexander Pope.

Brave man struggling in the rain, and greatly failing with a failure state. No outsider is a fair judge of another man's family affairs. A Roman had put aside his wife, divorced her. Some of his friends protested.

"Is she not good-looking?" "She is." "Is she not a good housekeeper?" "She is." "Is she not virtuous?" "She is." The Roman handed his callers a shoe. "Is it not of good leather? Is not the workmanship good?" It is, but who gives success? "Tell me where it pinches me?" This complex creature, man, who can say where circumstances pinches him? Man is not the same all through his life; he is a puzzle.

Like jumps on over the race of man is found. Now, given in youth, now withering on the ground. Another race the following spring supplants. They pass the successive and successive.

Samuel Smiles' Self-Help often is quoted in this column; he may be quoted again: "We learn wisdom from failure much more than from success. We often find final things in life—instead of life, for it cannot be known until a man is dead whether his life was successful or failure, and when you think of life and death, that is thinking of religion, which concerns itself with both. Are the managers of modern religion wise in rejecting coffee and tobacco, the aids that were the original supports?"

Men cannot fairly be judged by the consequences of their actions; what prompted their action, good impulse or bad, is what counts; and if a man feels that his purpose was good and that he exerted himself to the best of his ability for the accomplishment of a good purpose, he can feel that his life has been a success, though he end his days in a poorhouse or a prison. Marking knows this and that is the reason it has invented a Judgment Day.

Topping the sensation they made in "Bad Girl" See James Dunn and Sally Eilers in "Dance Team," at Prince Theatre, Thursday and Friday.

World's greatest clown turns the town topsy-turvy as doctors of divorce, See Wheeler and Woolsey in "Peach O'Ferry" at Prince Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday.

RECONSTRUCTION CLOSURES

IN THE NEWS SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

AND

BEST REMAINING VOTE INDUCEMENT

What Is An Extension?

An EXTENSION is another subscription, for the same person, given in addition to one they gave earlier in the campaign. For instance, if John Smith gave some candidate a subscription for one, two, three or four years, and he gives that same candidate or another candidate another subscription, this is called an EXTENSION, and it draws the difference in votes between what the earlier subscription drew and what the whole thing is worth. Therefore, if he gave a one year order during the first period, and he was a NEW Subscriber, the candidate obtaining the first order would receive 4,000 votes; which is the value of a one year order during the first period, and ONCE FIRST PERIOD, ALWAYS FIRST PERIOD. Now if he gave another one year subscription, this would make two years in all, and inasmuch as a two year order is worth 10,000 votes when NEW, and the number of votes allowed on the first year being subtracted from what a two year order is worth (10,000 votes), the difference would be 6,000 votes, or what the second year is worth. This system is used when counting Extension votes on any denomination. If a one year new subscription is extended to five years, you deduct 4,000 votes from 20,000 votes which leaves 16,000 votes, or the value of a four year extension. Explain this feature to your friends, show them that extensions count big in vote value. A few long term extensions may turn the tide in your favor.

SAY GOLF COURSE IS COMMUNITY NEED

A four or five-hole golf course is a community need, according to Jack Barrett and Bert Lapp, and they are considering what can be done about it.

"If there was a golf course to which some of these fellows could go and knock the ball around they would be better employed than if they stood around on the street and talked about hard times," Jack says.

The first question is a tract of ground of proper size and right location and the next is how much the cost of getting the ground in shape.

Jack and Bert will be glad to talk to all who are interested.

Peculiar Growth of Pratt Pope's Potatoes

Pratt Pope, farming at Sand Out station three miles north of Canal Point, has a condition in a patch of Irish potatoes that he does not understand and no one has explained. Runners from the hills in the rows grow into the middles and put on small potatoes and keep on growing and come to the surface in the middles of the rows, the green leaves showing a new stalk under them. The small potatoes on the runners have eyes and seem normal, but no one ventures a guess as to whether the vines will make a crop in the hills or elsewhere. The crop went through the frost.

CANAL POINT SCHOOL

SECOND GRADE
At P. P. A. last Monday night an apple blossom night was held at the school. The picture is a typical May scene of blue hilly and apple blossoms.

There were only twelve on the program but every mother who has a child in the Second Grade is expected to visit the grade. We hope many will respond.

Morris Johnson and Donald Hand are housekeepers this week. Hazel Benzo drew a very attractive picture on the board for a May calendar. This picture is a typical May scene of blue hilly and apple blossoms.

All the mothers of our pupils are to be room mothers for the next month, so we are expecting a great number of visitors in our room.

Vincent Tillman moved to Holm and Truman Padgett moved to Miami. We are very sorry to lose these pupils.

Arletta Howell is our housekeeper this week and she is keeping our floor and bookshelves in very neat order.

We are working hard on our part of the May Day program, and we want all our parents to come out and see it.

CONNER'S HIGHWAY MAINTENANCE WORK

W. F. Van Landingham, state road maintenance supervisor, with headquarters in Miami, has authorized John Burges, foreman of the Canal Point Division, to carry on a program of work that is intended to keep Conner's highway in good condition.

The bridge at Chancy is being built and the bridge at Canal Point is being repainted and the road shoulders will be cleaned off for a distance of six feet on each side of the paving. Byron Todd will paint the Canal Point bridge.

Widening of the highway at a point in Canal Point accomplished by placing rock in front of the property of Dr. E. J. Thomas of West Palm Beach is being done by county forces and not by the State Road Department.

INDIANTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Adams of Mayaca spent Sunday with the Hattaway family.

Rev. Revere, Methodist minister, preached at St. Paul's church last Sunday night. He comes every two weeks. Preaching takes place in the north room of the big building upstairs, which is also used as a union Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hattaway moved to West Palm Beach Tuesday.

L. B. Rivell, one of our merchants, has been gathering and picking his crop of tomatoes, now having also engaged in the trading business this season.

Postmaster Edsall has some truck-tomatoes and beans mainly. One of the finest old groves on the lower coast, the Hull grove, was threatened with destruction recently. Someone had set fire to the woods back of the grove which is about one-fourth mile off Old Settlers' highway. Mrs. Lander saved the grove by jumping into her car and getting a bunch of negroes to fight the fire. She is the caretaker's wife. Hootchman and Leasing boys have a habit of setting the woods on fire, just for the fun of it. Now that schools are over they have made up their minds to do as many other states have to work, so are ready for any kind of mischief.

Bob Bider is spending some time with his sister Mrs. Chason Wilmer Wilkison whose home is here, is working on the government levee work on the Mississippi river. He left about six weeks ago and says they have so much rain all the time that they can work only part of the time. He has to lay off the job and come home last December on account of high water.

Mrs. Day entertained her Sunday school class with a social a few evenings ago.

Mrs. Will Parker left a few days ago for a visit to relatives in Jacksonville.

A large number of state convicts are staying at camp across the canal from Indiantown. They are employed on construction work of the Indiantown-Mayaca road, together with a few employees from Okeechobee and other parts. There have been several escapes but most of them have been captured.

We now have four candidates in the field for sheriff. Mr. Cason of Indiantown, Mr. C. Stuart, and Babush and Christensen also of Stuart.

Rev. Dunklin is on hand to fill his appointment on every first Sunday. He preaches the first Sunday. He has been preaching at Indiantown for years. He is the Baptist minister there through Indiantown two days ago. She came to take her daughter home. Mrs. Arthur Rivell moved from their old home on Old Settlers' highway to one of the stucco houses on northeast of railroad.

Miss Pearl Connor, one of the daughters of the late Mr. Connor, died last Friday, at Stuart. They will make their home for the present here.

CANAL POINT M. E. CHURCH
MOTHER'S DAY SERVICES
The second Sunday in May is intensely observed as Mother's Day. Special services will be conducted for the occasion. The Apostle Paul in Romans 13:7 says: "Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor."

If there anyone more deserving of tribute, honor and love than our mothers?

A man may go all over the world, he may become a pirate, he may run through every stage of belief and unbelief; he may rub out his conscience; he may destroy his fineness in every respect; but there will be one picture that he cannot efface from his mind, the picture of his mother. It will rise before him like a morning star, the beauty of that remembered goodness which he called "Mother."

"Oh, Mother, when I think of thee, 'Tis but a step to Calvary, where Thy gentle hand upon my brow Is lending me to Jesus now."

We want every mother young or old to be at this service and the fathers also. If the entire family cannot come, send a representative to Mother's Day—relieve her of the burden and care of the Sunday dinner so she can attend the services.

Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Preaching, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. All are welcome and cordially invited to all our services. Our Sunday school is a marked increase, last Sunday, let's keep boosting.

R. E. STANES, Pastor.

AROUND THE LAKE

Dr. T. T. Coleman of Okeechobee has bought the position there that is now occupied by F. E. Henderson, the county superintendent of schools, but the Okeechobee paper does not say who the former owner or seller is.

Construction of the levee to allow the state land in Pelican bay, between Pahokee and Belle Glade, is aided by the low stage of the lake, which allows a dragline excavator to work better than could a floating excavator.

She was a crook, he a gambler, but they found their souls. See Clark Gable in "Fighting Blood" at Prince Theatre, Saturday.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER
I am a candidate for county commissioner from the Fifth District of Palm Beach county (the Okeechobee district) and I solicit the votes and support of the people of this region. I hope that my old-time friends will tell the newcomers about me and thus aid my campaign. You know that I have had a long-time contact with public affairs in general and Everglades affairs in particular, and I believe I can help the people and the country if I am permitted to serve on the board. HARD FOR WORKERS TO FIND SHELTER

Many workers are being used to get shelter by persons who have come into the upper Glades in recent weeks to get employment at picking beans of the spring crop, and some of the boom-time conditions of the fall are being duplicated.

Most of the growers have quarters for their colored laborers but the housing accommodations are not sufficient for the whole number of workers that can be used when the crop production is normal in quantity, hence devices must be used by the laborers who come in, to provide themselves with shelter. As the pay for beans is small and the work is regular, the transient laborers must not afford to rent houses, even if there were houses to supply the demand of this character.

A good deal of cooking is done in the open by the transients, who provide themselves with hard cans and similar vessels and make fires between bricks, logs or stones, but the matter of shelter at night is not so easily taken care of, although there are some who sleep in the open woods or on the lee side of buildings.

Negroes usually crowd into the quarters of the white men and separate themselves and make fire device individual methods. In one corner a man made his home in a窟 under a railroad, with a cuckoo as a porter. Buildings not much larger than a dog house or a bird house are occupied as camp in fields. A usual method is to set a square of galvanized sheet iron on edge and spread canvas or crocker sacks as awnings or flaps. On the lake side of the railroad a white man lives in a clump of bushes, where he has tied the tops of the bushes together to make a roof. North of Canal Point is a two-story house for which claim can be made that it is the smallest two-story house in the civilized world.

FOR MEMBER OF COUNTY BOARD OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination in the Democratic primary as a candidate for member from District No. 1 of the county board of public instruction. The excellent reasons for my candidacy will be stated in detail in the course of the campaign. In the meantime I shall appreciate it if the voters who can support my candidacy will consult among themselves with a view to bringing about my nomination.

CARMEN SALVATORE.

Pahokee Base Ball and Sunday Games
Whether Pahokee will have a base ball team depends on whether or not there can be Sunday base ball, a spokesman for the fans said.

Baseball without Sunday games is hard to be impossible, and the only grounds available for a diamond is owned by the school board. How the school board will look on the use of the school's athletic field on Sunday games that are not under school auspices is the question that makes uncertain whether Pahokee will have a base ball team.
